

Black River Audubon Society
December Program

Tuesday, 7pm, December 5, 2017
6195 Otten Road, N. Ridgeville
Sandy Ridge Reservation Nature Center

Tim Fairweather
“Wildlife of Sandy Ridge”

Tim Fairweather with his Happy Dog

Tim Fairweather will provide a “birding potpourri,” Tuesday, December 5 at 7 pm at Sandy Ridge Reservation, 6195 Otten Road in North Ridgeville. (Note the change of location in December.) We will look at some of Tim’s favorite sightings and delve into birding games with lots of audience participation and suitable for all ages and birding experience.

Tim has been the senior naturalist at Sandy Ridge since it opened in 1999. His Wednesday morning birding walks in the fall and spring continue to grow in popularity and turnout. His 2018 “Big Sit” bird count during migration season next spring will be his twelfth in a row. Be sure to attend and hear him relate how he was almost arrested while merely taking it easy and counting birds!!!

SPECIAL NOTES

Audubon calendars make great gifts and will also be available at this program for only $5!!! You can also sign up for the Christmas Bird Counts for Elyria on Dec. 16 and Wellington on Dec. 30th!!!

For more information about volunteering, programs or becoming a member, please visit blackriveraudubon.org and don’t forget to LIKE us on Facebook!!!